

Conversation in English

The lessons are structured to have you talk as much as possible about matters that are relevant to the world today. They are also designed to prepare you for life after school, if/whether you are socialising with an international crowd, or if you are having to write academic articles.

In the course, there will be used colloquial language, and lessons will be supplemented and adjusted and made into something that you would find interesting to talk about. As to your participation, you should be as creative and as expressive as possible, you should lose your barriers to communicate with each other, and let yourself have fun.

Conversation in English is taught by a native speaker (if possible)